

Parklands and plenty of space give families a fresh start at Potters Northside

A fresh start for families looking to the north

FOLLOWING strong sales results at its Officer community, 'Potters Grove', developer ID_Land has recently launched Potters Northside.

Offering elevated views and a variety of land sizes, the 145 lot project sits directly opposite the popular Potters Grove project.

The new development offers residents a relaxed pace of life, with a broad range of leisure and recreation facilities to enjoy. A key feature of the community will be the stunning heritage-listed English Oak tree being retained and incorporated into the community's parkland. The shape and sheer size of this classic oak is sure to quickly establish it as an iconic element of the estate. Since its public launch in April, more than 50 per cent of stage 1 has already been sold and construction is set to commence there in June this year.

Conveniently close to Officer's new town and a host of transport links, residents will have all the necessary amenities on their doorstep.

Potters Northside is just minutes from the Officer train station and only a short drive from Berwick.

On the education front, Potters Northside is surrounded by an excellent array of both public and private, primary and secondary schools, including St Brigid's Primary School which shares a border with the development.

ID_Land director Matthew Belford said the ease of convenience and the creature comforts that Potters Northside has to offer are major drawcards for buyers looking to upgrade their lifestyle in the south eastern region.

"With newly constructed town and transport facilities, coupled with a vast selection of education centres in the immediate area, Potters Northside has everything you need, and is a popular choice for those seeking a place to settle down and grow their family," Mr Belford said.
